First Online MUN

Due to COVID-19, THIMUN changes the conference mode from in-person to online and it is also our very first online in-school MUN. Although it is different from the past MUNs that the students have experienced, with the skills they've learned from class and a good comprehension of how the conference is operated, students get in the groove immediately.

Conference in Progress

We have 6 students separated in 3 different committees. They discuss and debate on different objectives before coming up with a draft resolution, and vote according to the voting procedure of the UN. In this process, it shows how much our students understand the topics and the standing of the country they represent.

Team Work

During the unmoderated caucus, the conference is temporarily suspended. Delegates can leave their seats to do discussion and lobbying. Teams can collaborate and prepare for the final vote for/against the resolution.

Gain and Grow

Different than before, our students gain valuable experiences and overcome challenges they have encountered in this online format. By participating in MUN, students know what they need to improve and also anticipate the next MUN.
